Y. W. C. A. Enjoyed A Most Successful Year

Reports of Treasurer and Secretary Given at Annual Meeting of Y. W. C. A. Show Increased Funds and Interest—Five New Directors Elected—Speaker Makes Plea for World Court.

The annual meeting of the membership of the Kingston Young Women's Christian Association was held at the Y. W. C. A. gym on Tuesday evening and was largely attended. Mrs. G. F. Rice, chairman of the board of directors presided and opened the meeting with a short but most appropriate Scripture reading: Ephesians 11:19-22, followed by a short prayer. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Miss Alma Tyler, secretary pro tem, and were approved.

Mrs. Rice then spoke of the many splendid men and women in Kingston who during the past year supported the Y. W. C. A. with both interest and funds, resulting in a most successful year. Besides the board of directors, composed of twelve devoted women, the help of many more women in the city who have gone into making the Y. W. C. A. a force for real good in the community. But as the work has grown greater, the responsibility of those most closely identified with it all has grown, according to Mrs. Rice, and it is the sincere hope that the Kingston Young Women's Christian Association may year after year become bigger and better and may more fully fulfill the purpose of the organization.

Mrs. Rice then called for the treasurer's report which was given by Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler as follows:

Treasurer's Report.

Respectfully submitted,
K. F. FOWLER,
Treasurer.

Mrs. Fowler's report was accepted with thanks and ordered placed on file.
Mrs. Rice said that she often wondered if she herself could in any measure realize what it would mean to come to a strange place and take care of an absolutely new-born infant. Y. W. C. A. which had not so much as swaddling clothes, as Miss Rice had done. Yet this three-month-old child of which Miss Rice said justly be proud was the record of her marvelous accomplishment. Mrs. Rice then gave her report of the work of the Y. W. C. A. with appreciation and gratitude. The report was:

Report of General Secretary.
Following is the report of the general secretary for the year 1925. Just a year ago our met and re-elected for the record of the first year of service of our Y. W. C. A. expressing the desire that the year before us might be a still better one—that we might more fully work out our purpose and to a greater degree give the young women of Kingston an opportunity for that abundant life. And all too quickly the time has passed and now we must take stock and see what has been accomplished in our year.

Girl Reserves.
First let us consider our junior girls who are known as the Girl Reserves. The work of this department is largely carried on by the monthly Girl Reserves. During the year the department was headed by Miss Jane Van Kleeck, who took up the work of the department. There are six groups now organized, three in the grade schools.

Anti-Klan Law Upheld by Highest Court

Full Text of the Walker Law Which Requires Filing of Oath and Roster of Members With the Secretary of State.

Interest in the Walker Anti-Klan law, recently upheld as constitutional by the highest court in the state, has been revived since the decision was handed down by the court. The bill when it was first introduced in the state legislature was commented upon at length in the columns of The Freeman which pointed out its inconsistencies. Many changes were made before it was enacted.

Since the recent court decision The Freeman has received a number of requests from both Kluckers and anti-Kluckers to print a copy of the law so that it could be carefully read and its provisions noted.

The Walker law is known as Chapter 251, an act to amend the civil rights law, in relation to its application to fraternalities and sororities. It became a law April 1, 1925, with the approval of the governor.

The law reads as follows:
The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly do enact as follows:
Section 1. Section fifty-three of chapter fourteen of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to civil rights, constituting chapter six of the consolidated laws," such section having been added by chapter six hundred and sixty-four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twenty-three, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Copies of documents and statements to be filed. Every existing membership corporation, and every existing unincorporated association having a membership of twenty or more persons, which corporation or association requires an oath as a prerequisite or condition of membership, other than a labor union, a fraternity or sorority having chapters composed only of students in or alumni of colleges and universities in this and another state or states, or a chapter of such fraternity or sorority, or a benevolent order mentioned in the third part of this article, within thirty days after this article takes effect, and every such corporation or association hereafter organized, within ten days after the adoption thereof, shall file with the secretary of state a sworn copy of its constitution, by-laws, rules, regulations and oath of membership, together with a roster of its membership and a list of its officers for the current year. Every such corporation and association shall, in case its constitution, by-laws, rules, regulations or oath of membership or any part thereof, be revised, changed, or amended, within ten days after such revision or amendment file with the secretary of state a sworn copy of such revised, changed or amended constitution, by-law, rule, regulation or oath of membership. Every such corporation or association shall within thirty days after a change has been made in its officers file with the secretary of state a sworn statement showing such change. Every such corporation or association shall at intervals of six months file with the secretary of state a sworn statement showing the names and addresses of such additional members as have been received in such corporation or association during such interval.

This act shall take effect immediately.

Governor Pinchot Changes Plans

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 20.—Anthracite coal legislation will receive no immediate attention from Governor Pinchot. An announcement that he would not address the special session of the Pennsylvania Legislature has come from the governor.

Early this week the governor announced his intention of addressing the assembly on anthracite not later than today and admitted that the speech was being drafted. No explanation of the change in the governor's plans could be obtained today.

Three Killed in Explosion.
Miami, Fla., Jan. 20.—Three men were killed and 15 injured when a small truck carrying a load of dynamite caught fire and exploded at Coral Gables early today. Some of the injured are expected to die.

Harrison Inquest Closed by Coroner Will Enact Tax Bill Before March

No New Light on Automobile Accident Which Caused Death of Prominent Merchant—Drivers Decline to Sign Immunity Waivers.

Three witnesses were sworn Tuesday afternoon in the inquest conducted before Coroner W. N. Conner to fix responsibility for the death of William R. Harrison who was struck by the automobile of James DeWitt at the corner of Green and Main street on December 29, following a collision with the car of Chester Osterhout. Mr. Harrison died a few days later in the Kingston City Hospital when pneumonia set in.

Although an adjournment was taken a week ago to give an opportunity to run down a rumor that there had been an eye-witness to the accident, none was produced at the adjournment.

There was no new testimony and the three witnesses sworn testified to practically the same facts as were brought out a week ago. The witness Wyatt who resides on Josephine avenue testified that about 6:30 or shortly before he was on his way to McCabe's Restaurant on Wall street. As he crossed Main and Wall streets he saw a motor car coming about half a block away. The car was a large closed car or a car with side curtains on. It was travelling fast, about 25 miles an hour, and had only the small dash lights lit. A horn on the car was sounded as he passed the corner but who the driver was the witness did not know. He did not hear the crash of the accident.

The accident happened about 6:15 o'clock. Assistant District Attorney Cleo B. Murray who conducted the examination of witnesses for The People again extended to both Mr. DeWitt and Mr. Osterhout an opportunity to sign a waiver of immunity and go on the stand and tell their story but both declined. As no further witnesses were available the hearing was declared closed by Coroner Conner who reserved decision.

FAILURE TO ANSWER PHONE RESULTS IN $100,000 FINE

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 20.—A girl telephone operator in a downtown exchange lost an opportunity to be a heroine and her failure to answer resulted in a $100,000 fine in the heart of the automobile district early today.

M. A. Fried, night watchman in the plant of the John R. Lyman Waste Company, discovered the flames. He tried to telephone to fire headquarters, but no operator answered.

By this time, however, the fire was burning fiercely. Flames swept the three story brick building and also destroyed the plants of the Lyman-Waste Company, playing and bowling supplies. United Oriental Ice Company and Witherbee Ignition Company.

$2,250,000 INST. INSTEAD OF $2,250

In an advertisement of the Cass Washer in The Freeman on Tuesday the assets of the Service Appliance Co., manufacturers of the Cass Washer, was given as being $2,250, which is absurd. The correct figure is $2,250,000, a difference of 42-43,750, which to most folks is a sum worth contending.

Divorce Decree Granted.
An interlocutory decree of divorce has been granted by Judge C. D. B. Washburn at special term in the action brought by Leslie Smith against his wife, Edna Smith, both living in this city. Defendant, it was testified, is living with another man in Kingston. Frank W. Brooks is attorney for plaintiff.

Will Enact Tax Bill Before March

But Debate Will Be Withheld Because of World Court Fight—Treasury Has a Surplus of $64,206,000 Compared To $15,440,000 on January 1925.

Washington, Jan. 20.—With the 1926 revenue act, chopping over $250,000,000 of the federal tax bill, on the way toward passage, treasury officials today predicted that another material cut will be possible in 1927 and further, although smaller reductions may be anticipated in years to come.

Tightening of government purse strings in the first half of the 1925-1926 year, resulted in a decrease of $34,634,000 in administrative costs, while business prosperity was responsible for a $77,788,000 jump in receipts, placing the $262,041,000 figure originally set will be successful, according to treasury exports.

The treasury now has a surplus of $64,206,000 compared to $15,440,000 January 16, 1925. While administration spokesmen, joined by Democratic leaders are determined to finally enact the tax bill before March 1, they have announced a willingness to withhold it from debate for the present because of the world court fight.

Republican independents and Democratic progressives conferring today over a proposal to join forces in attacking several features of the new bill. The two groups were agreed upon opposing the repeal of the inheritance taxes while the Republican insurgents denounced the repeal of the income tax.

Also was said to favor a drive to restore the capital stock tax. In its present form the bill will give the greatest portion of relief to payers of income surtaxes. Of the total proposed reduction, $121,575,000 would be allotted in reduced surtaxes while only $85,000,000 would be slashed from the normal income rates, including $42,000,000 resulting from increased personal exemptions, from which all taxpayers will benefit. Repeal of the capital stock tax would reduce taxes on corporations by $93,000,000, most of which would be offset by the $88,000,000 increase resulting from the new corporation tax of 1925 per cent, which became effective on enactment of the bill.

Says Public Has Won Coal Strike

Washington, Jan. 20.—"The public has won the hard coal strike," declared John Hays Hammond, chairman of the 1925 coal fuel distribution commission at the White House today.

"There is no suffering from lack of coal," he said, "and even should the strike run until summer there will be none. Operators and miners are the only losers."

PARDON ADVERTISEMENTS RECEIVE COMPLIMENTS

The Underwriters Review, an insurance publication at New Orleans, recently featured an article on advertising the insurance business, written by A. D. Pardee of the Pardee Agency, this city, and illustrated with six of the Pardee Agency advertisements in The Freeman. Mr. Pardee has received strongly complimentary letters from insurance company officials who were impressed by his article and the reproduction of his firm's advertisements.

Governor Clinton Hotel Finances Reported

Will Need $86,000 to Complete and Equip New Hotel—$25,000 Bonus and One Per Cent Interest Saved by Borrowing $150,000 from Big Insurance Company—Nine Directors Elected.

A first mortgage loan of $150,000 has been arranged for by the directors of the Kingston Community Hotel Corporation, without payment of any bonus or premium and bearing interest at six per cent. The executing of the mortgage waits only on completion of the necessary formalities. To meet payments pending receipt of the proceeds of this mortgage $45,000 has been borrowed, so that after this is paid $105,000 will remain from the proceeds of the mortgage. It is estimated that $86,000 additional will be needed to complete and equip the hotel, which will be ready for business not later than May 15, unless something unforeseen occurs. Much more than $150,000 could have been borrowed on first mortgage had the directors been willing to pay a bonus. One concern offered a loan of $250,000, provided it was paid a 10 per cent bonus and seven per cent interest, but the directors deemed it much more economical and much better business to accept a smaller sum at lower interest from one of the big insurance companies and rely on Kingston folks to furnish the remainder needed than to throw away $25,000 on a bonus and load up the annual interest account with another one per cent.

These and other interesting facts concerning progress in construction and financing of the Governor Clinton Hotel were made known at the annual meeting of stockholders, held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tuesday evening and attended by 19 stockholders who voted an aggregate of 1,344 shares of stock. The directors elected were: Herbert Carl, John H. Gregory, Frank R. Powley, Arthur J. Burns, Peter A. Black, Stephen N. Bobo, J. Leslie Kinch, Arthur H. Wicks and Louis N. Tirrell. Max Reben and M. E. Powley were elected tellers.

Herbert Carl, just returned from abroad, presided at the meeting and reports of progress in the building of the hotel were made by A. J. Burns, president, but the directors deemed it much more economical and much better business to accept a smaller sum at lower interest from one of the big insurance companies and rely on Kingston folks to furnish the remainder needed than to throw away $25,000 on a bonus and load up the annual interest account with another one per cent.

The following financial report and estimate of future needs as of January 1, 1926, was presented by Treasurer Frank R. Powley:

Debits.
Cash on hand.....$ 2,858.03
Real Estate.....61,530.82
Sharpe Mansion and Clinton Avenue Building.....13,773.54
Construction of the "Governor Clinton" to date.....206,067.55
Deferred charge.....19,238.23
Total.....$303,468.18

Receipts.
Bills payable.....$ 45,000.00
Earnings, Discount and Interest.....128.18
Received on Capital Stock.....257,740.00
Total.....$303,468.18

Approximate Cost of Building and Furnishing.....$450,000.00

Cash on hand.....$ 2,858.00
Stock Subscriptions receivable.....50,000.00
Mortgage, $150,000, less bill payable, $45,000.00.....105,000.00
Total.....$399,851.00

Needed additional.....$ 86,075.00
The item of $45,000 for bills payable does not indicate that bills for construction and material are unpaid, but covers money borrowed in order to pay bills promptly and take advantage of discounts. The $86,075 still needed to complete payments on the completed and furnished hotel will be raised by sale of stock or by borrowing. Original purchasers of stock are offered first opportunity to buy additional stock and many have already done so. One large stockholder some time ago doubled his original subscription. A 50 per cent increase in purchase of stock by the remaining original stockholders would amply finance the hotel.

An estimate of revenue and expense of operating the hotel has been prepared, based on the actual revenue and expense record of the Pontiac, a 104 room hotel at Oswego, N. Y., and the George Washington Hotel, a 100 room house at Winchester, Virginia. The actual operating figures from these two houses for a month when they were operating at 77% of occupancy were taken, multiplied by twelve and the average of the two houses arrived at. It is considered that this is a conservative and fair estimate of the results of operation which the Governor Clinton will show with an occupancy of 77%.

This estimate is as follows:

Revenue.
Rooms.....$108,144.00

CONTROL OF TWIG BORER BY SPRAY

One of the most destructive pests in the peach twig borer. Prunes, nectarines, apricots and pears are also injured.

The adult moth is dark gray in color, with forewings expanding about one-half inch and marked with dark spots. The full-grown larva is about one-half inch long, of a dull reddish brown color with dark brown or blackish head.

The insect passes the winter as a very small larva in silk-lined cells or burrows in the spongy tissue of the bark at the crotches of the limbs. Early in the spring, as the foliage is putting out, the larvae begin to leave their burrows and attack the tender shoots, boring into and down the pith, the galleries ranging from about one-third inch to one and one-half inches in length. The shoot injured soon withers and dies. Many shoots may be attacked by a single larva, which is thus capable of doing considerable harm during the summer. There are two or more generations in a year. The larva may enter the peach at the stem end, and bore into the pith, the seed of which it seems to prefer, usually causing the stone to split, as the fruit ripens; or, simply the flesh may be tunneled, depending on whether or not the stone is hard when the fruit is attacked.

In late summer, the young larvae from the eggs of the last generation of moths construct their hibernation cells in the soft tissue of the crotches of limbs, where they remain until the following spring, thus spending some six months in this condition.

This pest may be controlled by spraying with dormant lime-sulphur sprays after the buds have swollen in the spring. Spraying during the winter with kerosene or distillate-oil emulsion is used by some with good success.

The larvae are readily killed by arsenate of lead at the rate of four pounds to two hundred gallons of water, when applied just as the buds are beginning to open.—W. P. Tetter, Jr., Deputy State Entomologist, Colorado Agricultural College.

Protecting Young Trees From Rabbits and Mice

Cylinders of woven wire netting are among the best mechanical contrivances for protecting young trees from rabbits. Poultry netting of one-inch mesh made of No. 20 galvanized wire is recommended. Rolls 18 inches wide may be used for cottontails, and the material cut into one-foot lengths. One of the sections is rolled into cylindrical shape about the trunk of each tree and fastened at several places by bending and twisting the projecting ends of wire.

Guards should be left on the trunks as long as the trees require protection. They may be adopted to protection from both meadow mice and rabbits by using wire of finer mesh and by pressing the lower edges into the ground.

Veneer and other forms of wooden protectors are popular and have several advantages when used for cottontail rabbits. When left permanently upon the trees, however, they furnish retreats for insect pests. The labor of removing and replacing them is considerable, but they have the advantage, when pressed well into the soil, of protecting the trees from both mice and rabbits.

Spray for Currants

To control aphids on currants prepare a spray by dissolving a one-inch cube of laundry soap in a gallon of water in which is mixed a teaspoonful of 40 per cent alcohols sulphate. Apply this as soon as the leaves are unfolded and see that the undersides of all the leaves are thoroughly wet with the spray. Do not wait until the current leaves start curling and turning red before you think they should be sprayed. Apply the spray early and then again in about ten days or two weeks.

Horticulture Hints

Apples are loaded with sunshine and cheer. Apple, king of fruits, nature's richest gift, better than medicine.

Answering a query about setting peach trees in the fall, we will say that we would not do it. Apple and pear trees may be set in the fall, but all stone fruits are best set in the spring.

You can trim apple trees any time after the leaves fall, and do it safely.

If the orchard has been in weeds, grass or cover crop that was killed by frost from the preceding fall, early in April is a good time to give it a thorough plowing. This will put the soil in good tilth for cultivation in the summer and so make available for the trees the elements of plant food which the soil may contain. Orchard trees make their principal growth and demand on the soil for both water and plant food during May and June.

Weekly Canada

Canada's wealth, says a return from the National City Bank of New York, has declined in the last ten years, and since 1870 has increased more than seven fold. She is now recorded as the seventh richest country in the world, national wealth totaling approximately $20,000,000,000.

Pasteurization To Be Discussed

Academy of Medicine Meets Thursday Evening at City Hall to Discuss Question of Whether Grade B Raw Milk Shall or Shall Not Be Pasteurized.

The Kingston Academy of Medicine will meet Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the city hall at which time the subject of pasteurized milk will be discussed. At the last meeting of the board of health the special committee consisting of Charles L. McBridge, Dr. Daniel Connelly and Dr. Harold Clarke submitted a report favoring the pasteurization of Grade B raw milk in Kingston.

After discussing the report of the committee the health board, adopted Mayor Block's suggestion that the matter be referred to the Academy of Medicine and the Ulster County Medical Society to obtain an expression of opinion from the physicians before any action was taken. The Ulster County Medical Society meets in February at which time the matter will probably come before that body.

The state department of health at Albany recommends in a model milk code that all milk sold except certified and Grade A be pasteurized before being offered to the consumer.

Shriners' Dance at Armory Tonight

This evening at seven o'clock the doors of the armory will be thrown open and the annual Shriners' dance will be on. The committee this year which has charge of the entertainment program had made a special effort to secure only the best possible entertainment. There will be five top line variety acts which will start at 8:30 o'clock. Those who desire to secure seats will have an opportunity to do so between seven o'clock when the doors open and 8:30, the hour set for the entertainment program.

The entertainment program will take about an hour and general dancing will follow.

A late report from the ticket committee indicates a record breaking crowd for the evening. The music for dancing will be supplied by Paul Zucchi and his orchestra and Jimmie Conners and his boys.

For the benefit of those who have not already secured their tickets, the box office will be open at the armory and tickets may be procured there.

Mystic Court Installs Officers

Tuesday evening will long be remembered by the members of Mystic Court, No. 42, Order of the Amaranth, as an exceptional evening in its history, the occasion being the annual installation of the officers for 1926. Mrs. Freda Murray, the retiring royal matron, reviewed the work for 1925, revealing the fact that last year was one of the most successful years in the history of the court. Several new members were received during the year and the finances of the court were substantially increased.

At the appointed hour the representatives of the Supreme Council, consisting of Harry A. Tremper as supreme royal patron, Freda Murray as supreme marshal, Eva Parish as supreme associate marshal and Hannah Brasgans as supreme prelate assumed charge of the meeting and installed the following officers for 1926, using the beautiful secret installation ceremony:

Ella M. Snow, royal matron; Harry A. Tremper, royal patron; Jeanie S. Main, associate matron; Walter Brasgans, associate patron; Mary McCullough, treasurer; Elizabeth Terwilliger, secretary; Carolyn Sullivan, conductress; Alice Norwood, associate conductress; Hannah Brasgans, prelate; Josephine McCullough, historian; Georgianna Brown, marshal in chief; Clara Howells, marshal in chief; Laura Winter, standard bearer; Helena Ewel, warrier; Grace Zimmerman, organist; George B. Main, assistant; Mary Thelma, truth; Mary Smith, faith; Olivera Parish, wisdom; Carrie Tremper, charity; Freda Murray, trustee for three years.

The gifts to the retiring matron were numerous, consisting of past matron's jewel, dishes, cut flowers and other articles, also the incoming matron received many gifts from her officers and friends, and the officers of Clifton Chapter, O. E. S. among which was a beautiful bouquet. Following the installation of officers the beautiful coronation ceremony was given under direction of the retiring matron, Freda Murray, assisted by the officers of 1926, crowning the incoming matron as royal matron for the new year.

A very large number of members were present, among whom were visitors from Catskill, Haverstraw, Poughkeepsie and other places. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

This year being the tenth anniversary of the organization of the court, several plans were formulated to make this year also a banner year in its history.

WEARING IN CASE OF YOUNG CAVALIER DEFERRED
Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 20.—The state of William Cavell, the youngest person in the state of Pennsylvania to be convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to the electric chair during the week of February, will be in the balance for at least another month. The hearing was postponed by the state board of pardons today because of the absence of Lieutenant Governor Parks, a member of the pardon board.

Belden Admits Meeting Sailor

New York, Jan. 20.—Perry Belden, 41, formerly secretary of the American Embassy in Paris and since then diplomat in several capacities in Latin America, lay in the Knickerbocker Hospital today in a critical condition as a result of what police believed to have been a severe beating.

Physicians said he was suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and general exhaustion.

Found virtually unconscious, Belden insists that his injuries were caused by a fall. Under questioning he admitted that he had met a sailor, invited him to his apartment for a drink and "remembered nothing more."

A sailor's clothes were scattered about the Belden apartment.

Murders Father And Two Children

And Then Attacks Mother, Clabbing Her Into Unconsciousness—Man Had Negro Alleged to Have Committed Sordid Murders.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 20.—A manhunt participated in by police and enraged posses was under way today for John Henry Jones, 45, negro, who, it was alleged, after killing Clarence Bryant, 27, and his two children, Ethel and Wilburn, six, attacked Mrs. Bryant, 25 and left her dying.

Jones was employed on the Cold Stream Stock Farm near here on which Bryant was foreman.

Mrs. Bryant, bleeding from mancut, managed to crawl to a neighbor's house to give the alarm and told her story of the sordid murders.

Jones, she said, for unknown reasons, appeared in their home last night and shot Bryant and the two youngsters to death with a shotgun. Then he clubbed her with the gun in unconsciousness and left her to die.

Authorities feared mob violence when Jones was captured.

"I'm afraid there may be a necktie party," Chief of Police J. J. Reagan said.

Warm Weather Hits Ice Crop

Ice in Rondout Creek Lanes Inch and a Half in Thickness Since Sunday—Ice Now 3 1/2 Inches Thick—January Thaw Visits City.

The warm weather while it has been generally welcomed by the householder, especially those whose bins are low, has not been a welcome visitor to the ice dealers, and the ice fields in the Rondout creek of South Rondout have lost an inch and a half in thickness since Sunday. The ice is now 3 1/2 inches thick, and before it can be harvested needs to gain several more inches.

The ice fields in the Hudson river are holding fast, and the ferry transport is not having any trouble making her regular trips as she has a clear track across the river with the ice fast on both sides of the open channel.

It is not expected that any ice will be harvested from the Hudson river in this vicinity this winter with the possible exception of one or two houses. The artificial ice business has cut into the natural ice business very heavily in the New York market in recent years, and it is only a matter of time when Hudson river ice for the New York market will be but a memory of the past.

Beacon to Bear Mountain Road

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Surveys for the new state highway from Beacon to Bear Mountain will be made early this summer with a view of starting actual construction at the earliest possible date. Captain Arthur W. Brandt, state superintendent of highways, announced today.

The construction of the Beacon to Bear Mountain road will be a tremendous task but it is an important one in our highway system and we want to get it under way and finished as quickly as possible," said Captain Brandt. "We will have the surveys made early in the summer and we hope to get construction started this year."

A bill providing for this road was passed at the 1925 session of the Legislature.

ACTIVITIES AT ALBANY AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

Thursday and Friday are the two busy days at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church this week. On Thursday afternoon the Junior C. E. Society held its meeting at four o'clock. On Thursday evening at seven o'clock the pastor and deacons will meet those who desire to make with the church, and any who are thinking of taking this step are invited to come at that time. The prayer meeting opens at half past seven, and this will be followed by the annual business meeting, when the annual reports will be presented, officers elected, and other business transacted.

On Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be a birthday social for the entire church and congregation and their friends. While this is arranged by Circle No. 4 of the Ladies Aid Society, it will be in the nature of a general church social to which all are invited. There will be an interesting program, refreshments, and a social time together.

Dedication of Legion Memorial

J. Turck, Samuel M. Watts.

The Contractors.

On May 23rd bids were opened and contracts awarded for the building as follows:

Excavation, B. M. S. Transportation Company.

General Contract, Michaud-Campbell Company.

Plumbing and Heating, L. F. Bannan Company.

Marble for Memorial Tablet, McLaury Marble Tile Corporation.

Bronze for Memorial Tablet, The Gorham Company.

Painting, G. C. DuBois & Son.

Electric Wiring, Joseph A. McNellis & Company.

The building was erected and finished under the supervision of Henry S. Myers, superintendent of construction.

While all bills are not yet in, it is estimated that the complete cost figures of building and equipment will approximate the original estimate of $45,000. Of this amount, the American Legion and Auxiliary contributed the cost of the cash, $2,500, and about $5,000 in cash. The balance was contributed by public subscription in cash, pledges, materials and services. All pledges have been paid excepting $2,000. It is hoped that these pledges will soon be paid, so that bills can be paid, and Kingston memorial to its dead may be free and clear from incumbrance.

Kingston Post is preparing a history of the building, in which full information will be given, together with a detailed list of every one who contributed cash, materials or services to this worthy cause. This history will be distributed in pamphlet form throughout the city for future reference.

Members of Kingston Post, under the leadership of Commander Eugene B. Carey, again reaffirms their pledge made many times before, that their words, thoughts and actions will be a continual living memorial to those in whose honor the American Legion Memorial Building was erected.

Kingston Post, with 527 paid members last year, was the eighth largest post in New York state.

Now, with its own patriotic service station from which to operate, and with the assistance of its loyal auxiliary of ladies, it can execute its carefully planned program for worthwhile peace-time service to God and Country, and to carry on to that splendid destiny which is its share.

Commander Carey, on behalf of Kingston Post, invites a continuance of confidence, cooperation and support on the part of our citizens in the Legion's program.

On behalf of the American Legion, Commander Carey thanks every one who has contributed his or her share in the good work which is symbolized by the American Legion Memorial.

Building Is of Colonial Design

The American Legion memorial building is located on a plot of ground 50 by 100 feet in size on the southerly side of West O'Reilly street and near the Kingston high school. The building was designed by Charles S. Keefe of this city with offices in New York City at 257 Park avenue and is of Colonial design.

The Colonial architecture of the building is in keeping with the history of the city of Kingston which has long been known as the Old Colonial Town.

Standing at a slight elevation from the street, the building is of brick construction 36 feet by 46 feet in size. From the street the walk leads to the Colonial portico which gives entrance to the ground floor of the building. On the first floor of the building are the entrance hall, in which is placed the memorial tablet, a trophy room, reading room, office, coat room and the toilets and showers.

On the second floor are provided an assembly hall for Post meetings, connected by sliding doors with an assembly room for the auxiliary, a ladies' rest room and a kitchen.

Entering from the street to the right is located the office, a light airy room which will be devoted to Post business. Further on past the office is located the rest room and to the left of the entrance is the lounge room. Here comfortable chairs are provided and a large open fireplace.

The lounge room is connected with the entrance hall by wide open compartments and to the rear of the lounge room is the reading or card room where tables are provided for reading or other uses.

Below Memorial Tablet.

In the entrance hall at the left is located the bronze memorial tablet set in a marble panel.

Underneath the bronze eagle and wreath at the top is inscribed "1917 World War 1918" and under this is inscribed on the tablet a paragraph from Lincoln's Gettysburg address as follows: "It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to the cause for which they gave their last full measure of devotion."

Under the paragraph from Lincola's address is inscribed in incised letters "Erected by Kingston Post 150, American Legion and Patriotic Friends in Memory of Those Who Gave Their All for Freedom and Democracy. November 11, 1918."

At the bottom of the bronze tablet underneath the inscriptions are crossed swords and the emblem of the American Legion in bronze. On a marble slab which forms a table or shelf in front of the tablet is a bronze vase. The bronze tablet was supplied after a design submitted by the Gorham Company and the marble panel was supplied by the McLaury Marble Corporation of New York.

At the rear of the entrance hall is located the tiled toilets and shower rooms.

On the Second Floor.

Opening off from the westerly side of the entrance hall is the Colonial staircase which leads to the second floor of the building. On the top floor of the building are located the two large assembly rooms which will be used by the Post as a meeting place, and for members of the Auxiliary. These two rooms are connected by sliding doors so that the two doors may be thrown open into one large room for social functions. On the second floor is also located the kitchen and the ladies' rest room.

At the present time there is one large light room in the basement which is unoccupied and which will be fitted up as a billiard room. In the basement is also located the furnace room and coal storage bins. A side entrance to the west gives access to the basement.

Building Complete Cost $35,000.

This appropriate memorial to Kingston's war dead and those who have since died as a result of injuries sustained while in the service of our country, is the service which was contracted in the service was erected through the generous spirit of the citizens of Kingston. Work was started last spring on the building and the cost of the lot, building, memorial tablet and equipment will be in the neighborhood of $35,000 when completed. When a war memorial building was first talked of, Mr. Keefe offered his services toward its completion and drew plans for such a building. Since completing plans he has given much of his time and attention to the work.

Building Reverts to City.

When the last member of Kingston Post shall have passed away and the Post ceases to exist the memorial building will then become city property and will be maintained as a permanent memorial and to be devoted to such public use as may be found appropriate at that time.

Post and Auxiliary Officers.

The present officers of Kingston Post and its Auxiliary are:

Miners' Children Welcome Lewis

Shenandoah, Pa., Jan. 20.—Not only are the 158,000 striking miners in the anthracite region determined that the strike shall continue at whatever cost until their demands have been granted, but the miners' children are of the same mind.

This was indicated by the manner in which John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, was welcomed to Shenandoah.

More than 500 children of striking miners, many of them with faces pinched and wan from hunger, who had just been given their one hot meal at a charity soup kitchen, stood beside their parents as the latter shouted that they would support their leader and would not return to work until Lewis orders them to do so.

Lewis pledged "to the striking miners and their families the support of the entire resources of the United Mine Workers of America organization and the moral, as well as financial support of 4,000,000 allied trade union workers of the American Federation of Labor."

SAUGERTIES FISH AND GAME CLUB FLOURISHING

The Saugerties Fish and Game Club, Inc., has elected the following officers for the year 1926: John Lang, Jr., president; Dr. Gur F. Atwell, vice-president; Clyde Gardner, secretary; Henry T. Keeney, treasurer.

The club has a membership of well over the hundred mark and is desirous of having every one who is interested to join and help this much needed work along.

Fish and game have been distributed in that vicinity, as follows: Eight cans of bass, 22 cans of perch, Pike, 122 cans of trout, 125 rabbits, 1,752 shrews and eggs, and 14 live pheasants. The next meeting of the club will take place on February 1 and any one desiring to join may do so on that date. This year the club plans to sow wild rice and cereal along the river bank for wild duck feeding.

FAMOUS NOTION PICTURE AT TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH.

WIDENING FAMOUS BOSTON POST HIGHWAY

Traffic has become so dense over the famous Boston Post road between that city and New York and which dates back to the time of the Pilgrims that it has been found necessary to double the width to 36 feet. Detouring of vehicles was avoided while the additional concrete slab was laid.

LARGER CROP OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

Allowances Not Made for Winter Conditions on Various Highways.

The large crop of automobile accidents produced every year by the winter months and the disproportion between this number of accidents and the number of vehicles on the streets, was the subject of a warning issued to motorists by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. Mr. Hayes called attention to the result of an investigation by the accident prevention departments of several large A. A. A. clubs in various sections of the country. This investigation, he declared, clearly proves that motorists by and large do not make allowances for winter conditions on the highway.

Fail to Make Adjustment.
 "The fact that in many cases the curve of accidents sharply rises in the winter months when there are fewer vehicles on the streets," he said, "shows conclusively that congestion alone is not the cause of accidents. The findings of the accident prevention departments of scores of A. A. A. clubs are unanimous on the point that motorists fail to make the right adjustment in their driving habits when wintry weather arrives. "It has been proved, for instance, that in some cities the accidents on a wet day increase by about 100 per cent. The traffic officers making the counts noted that on the whole the motorists involved in these accidents were going at the speed which they had come to regard as safe in dry weather and had they made the necessary adjustment, and reduced speed 25 per cent, it is safe to assume that there would be no increase in accidents. In other words, a 25 per cent reduction in speed on a wet, slippery pavement is absolutely necessary to restore the margin of safety and offset the disadvantages of poor vision and skidding."

Rely Too Much on Chains.
 "Another thing that causes many motorists to come to grief is the degree of confidence that they place in chains. Chains, it has been shown, may be a good aid in keeping the safety margin but are by no means a preventive against accidents. It is not the chains themselves but the fact that the motorist is liable to be over-confident that leads to trouble. "The man who takes chances on a wet day for the simple reason that his car is equipped with chains, is simply flirting with the undertaker. "One way in which we can reduce our accidents during the winter months is simply to recognize that it is winter and that the conditions under which the automobile is operated involve increased hazard factors. To meet this condition, the motorist must undergo a psychological adaptation."

When It Is Necessary to Prime Vacuum Tank

Nearly every motorist at some time or other has the peculiar experience of running out of gasoline. Whenever the supply tank has been completely exhausted it should be remembered that it is necessary to prime the vacuum tank before the carburetion system will function again. This is generally done by removing the plug on the top of the vacuum tank and filling the tank with gasoline.

The easiest method, however, is after replenishing the supply of gasoline in the feed tank, to close the choke on the dash, retard the spark and advance the gasoline throttle lever. Then throw on the switch and run the motor on the starter for about a half a minute; throw off the switch and after waiting for about three minutes start the motor in the usual way.

Turning the motor over with the choke closed for half a minute forms a vacuum in the system and starts the gasoline siphoning from the supply tank to the vacuum tank.

It is necessary to wait three minutes in order to allow sufficient time for the vacuum tank to fill itself. This procedure not only saves time, but also makes the filling convenient.

Winter Motoring Is Not Attractive to Owners

Winter motoring is not attractive to many owners owing to the complications involved in starting and caring for the car, and this is especially true of the older models. Many of these are directly due to the lack of comfort in the garage. They are also the cause of rapid depreciation in one's sense of humor, and probably make one more efficient in profanity. An unheated garage not only reduces the pleasure of winter driving, but may also be responsible for a number of other troubles, in addition to hard starting.

An unheated garage prevents working around the car and giving it the attention it should have to operate efficiently in cold weather. There is always danger of failing to drain the radiator or providing an antifreeze solution of the proper strength with the resultant danger of damage to the radiator or cylinder through freezing. Low temperatures cause the oil in the engine and the lubricant in the transmission and axle to congeal and the cylinders, bearings and other vital parts are quite likely to depreciate rapidly.

The viscosity of the fuel will increase so that it will not flow as readily through the carburetor, while it will also be more difficult to vaporize and thus increase the possibility of its condensing in the cylinders, finding its way into the crank case and diluting the lubricating oil.

This gives rise to excessive fuel consumption and a considerable portion of the fuel enters the cylinders in noncombustible form; that which does not condense will escape to the atmosphere and give rise to the possibility of explosion.

Starting an engine in a cold garage requires more battery energy and thus materially reduces its life, while a weak battery is also apt to freeze. Aside from the fact that proper engine care is impossible, the finish of the car will also suffer, as it cannot be properly cleaned—frozen slush and mud lingering for weeks can have but one result, that of dulling the polished finish.

Secret Lock Is Puzzle to Automobile Thief

A good device for puzzling the automobile thief was made as follows: The regular terminal was removed from the end of the ignition wire and an extra one procured. One of these was clamped around a piece of brass tubing and the other around a similar piece of tubing of hard rubber. The inside of each tube was threaded with a small tap. The end of the wire was placed inside a yet smaller piece of brass tubing and a little solder was poured in to make a good connection. This piece of brass tubing was very slightly larger than the holes in the hard rubber and brass tubes inside the two terminals, and was threaded on the outside so as to screw into the holes in the two terminals. In ordinary use, the terminal with the brass lining is screwed on to the end of the wire and used in the regular manner. When the car is to be locked, however, the hood is raised, the brass-lined terminal is removed and the rubber-lined one is screwed into its place. The hard rubber is an insulator and the ignition system will not function and friend thief will puzzle for a long, long time before he dopes out what is the trouble.

Tire Chains Are Almost Indispensable on Auto

Tire chains are an almost indispensable motoring accessory in wet weather, but many a car owner has raised his brows because he did not give the chains proper consideration.

First of all, chains should be of the proper size; not so tight as to eat into the tire's tread and sideways or so loose as to slip under strain. They should be adjusted to creep slightly so as to distribute the wear over the tire.

Put on chains when they are needed—do not cover and uncover, and take them off as soon as the road is good. Keep them on the tires as long as they add to driving safety, but not a moment longer. This advice is particularly applicable to paved highways.

Apply brakes even more cautiously when chains are being used. A sudden application of the brakes locks the wheels and often causes the chains to eat into the rubber.

Record in Thinness

Some of the thinnest films on water ever subjected to scientific measurement were recently described before the National Academy of Sciences by Prof. W. J. Harkins and J. W. Morrison, of the University of Chicago. They are composed of only one layer of the molecules or building blocks of material substances, and some of them are so very thin that ordinary X-rays could not do their vibratory dance within the thickness of such a layer. They were selected for their performance. Numerically, the thickness of some of the films was found to be measured in millionths of an inch. Professor Harkins explained that such thin films can be easily formed by simply spreading the proper kind of substance on a surface of water.

K. H. S. Trimmed New Paltz Team

Although Coach Mike Palen's crack band of schoolmasters managed to steer several sensational shots through the hoop in the last minutes of the affair, Coach O'Leary's unusually strong mixture of Maroon and White "varsities" proved the New Paltz Normal team's undoing Tuesday night in the high school gym. The final score read: K. H. S., 19, New Paltz, 16.

Throughout the whole contest neither team could seem to wander far away without being speedily pursued until late in the third quarter when the K. H. S. band gained the desirable end of a 15 to 8 tally.

After intermission Captain Masterson and his two right hand men, Oakley and Storms, gave a demonstration of how easy it is to cut down an eight point lead. With but three minutes to play the locals were sporting a six point advantage, and the affair appeared quite Kingstonian. Then the New Paltzers began to manufacture trouble with Storms, then Oakley and then Masterson playing the hawk-eye roles.

With but a lone minute to play the schoolmasters had slightly amended the score so it read 17 to 16 in Kingston's favor. The final minutes was filled with fear for Kingston fans for a mere field was all that was needed to give the Palmenmen the affair. But Coach O'Leary's men kept the ball as far from the enemy basket as possible. Once Storms, one of Palen's guest shots, broke through Kingston's defense and missed a shot which could have won the affair. After this score, Ray Porter, a local forward, ended the suspense with a double headed which made the score 19 to 16 which was closely followed by the final whistle.

The "Tide" is said to be the ideal athlete. He is easily disciplined, keeps in the best condition, never crumbles; but, best of all, solitary or herd worship means nothing to him.

Dr. John James Tigert, commissioner of education of the United States, was considered one of the greatest football players Vanderbilt ever had. After graduation he was a football coach.

Babe Ruth Now in Hard Training

Babe Ruth Wrestling With His Physical Instructor.

Babe Ruth this year will have one of the greatest seasons he ever has had on the diamond, in the opinion of Arthur McGovern, physical instructor, at whose gymnasium the big slugger has started training. The Babe is dieting conscientiously and abstaining from stimulants.

"When the Babe gets out of condition, which he does very easily," says McGovern, "it is not because of any form of dissipation which he has been continually accused of, but simply because he has let up on his exercise, which he has to keep up at all times to stay in condition."

Ruth requires at least an hour's workout daily to avoid taking on fat and having his muscles become soft and flabby. He can gain as much as ten pounds in twenty-four hours, McGovern says.

In ten years of baseball, Ruth has lost the equivalent of about two and one-half tons in weight, more than any other athlete who is forced to train constantly, McGovern figures.

The Babe is declared by McGovern to be one of the fastest big men he ever has trained. This speed frequently has enabled him to outlast two opponents at handball. Boxing is one of the big fellow's hobbies and McGovern believes he would have made a good ring record if he had chosen that game instead of baseball.

Critics of "Red" Grange at least agree that he was wise in getting his professional compensation and perquisites while the getting was good.

Waterbury has obtained Elmer Duckett, young infielder, from the Providence club (formerly Worcester). He was with Bridgeport last season on option.

Bucky Harris, manager of the Senators, who is piloting a team in the Miami Winter league, is reported to be drawing down $7,000 for sitting on the bench.

Fans prefer Red Grange in sprints, rather than in football.

It depends on how you look at it whether Red Grange is a shining example or a horrible example.

The University of Nebraska has scheduled a football game with New York university at Lincoln November 20, 1926.

Lucien Vinez, light-eight champion of Europe, has left for his home in France after failing to receive his chance at the world title.

Kid Gleason Picks Best Young Pitchers of 1925

Kid Gleason, who was recently appointed assistant to Connie Mack and who has seen service in both leagues as leader, picks Sam Gray and Ted Blankenship as the two best young pitchers developed in the American leagues last season.

"Gray and Blankenship are great pitchers. I like Blankenship a bit the best because of his easy delivery and perfect follow-through body motion. Unless injured Blankenship should be good for ten years more."

"Gray is just as effective, but may not last as long as the White Sox pitcher. Sam throws a lot of curves and has a peculiar hitch to his delivery that is hard on the arm."

The case of Blankenship proves the uncertainty of the game and the difficulty in picking 'em.

Giants and Washington Play Exhibition Games

A spring schedule of 20 exhibition games, including a series of 11 contests with the champion Washington Nationals of the American league, is announced by the New York Giants through Secretary James J. Tierney.

Games also will be played with the Phillies, the Indians, the Athletics, the Browns and the Memphis club of the Southern association.

The former National league champions will again do their training at Sarasota, Fla., opening their series with Washington on March 20 at Sarasota. Three games will then be played at Tampa, Fla., after which the clubs will meet in Birmingham, Augusta, Atlanta, Norfolk and Washington.

"Hurry Up" Yost Pleased With Football Schedule

Michigan is pleased with the football schedule for 1926, by which it plays two games with the University of Minnesota, Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics, commented.

"The double bill with Minnesota gives Michigan a conference home game on October 16, which it was unable to schedule otherwise," he said.

"The two games with Minnesota are six weeks apart in time and 700 miles apart in distance. The two encounters should throw considerable light on the oft-made statement that under present conditions teams vary from three to six touchdowns in scoring effectiveness on different Saturdays."

K. H. S. SECONDS NOSED OUT DE MOLAY FIVE

In a preliminary match to the K. H. S.-New Paltz affair at the High School Tuesday night, the K. H. S. Seconds took a rough and stubbornly fought battle from the De Molay quintet. The final score read: Seconds, 27; De Molay, 25.

In the latter portions of the affair the De Molay lads were leading but in the final minute the Seconds managed to pass the visitors and remain a single field in front until the final whistle. Bruhn was the leading scorer for the winners with ten markers, while Gilday followed with eight. Dittus played a brilliant game for the losing aggregation besides topping the scoring honors of the affair with 14 markers.

A TIDY red tin of Prince Albert, to be exact. There's the greatest little trouble-chaser in the known world. P. A. and trouble don't speak the same language. But trouble understands when P. A. says: "On your way!" Pipe-grouches choose the nearest exit.

Yes, Sir, P. A. is right there with the Pollyanna stuff. Sunshine, gladness, the light heart, the bright smile. Because Prince Albert is the cheeriest, chummiest tobacco that ever tumbled into a briar or corn-cob. A pal to count on, no matter how the battle goes. A friend in fair weather and foul. Good old Prince Albert!

Smoke P. A.—and smile. Cool, comfortable P. A. Fragrant, friendly P. A. Not a tongue-lane or a throat-patch in a ton of it. The Prince Albert process hangs the "No Admittance" sign on Bits and Parch the day the factory opened. That means you can fix P. A. hard and fast—with no regret!

Men who gave up trying to smoke a pipe have tried again . . . with Prince Albert! That proved to be their password to jimmey-pipe joy. They're P. A. fans today . . . joyous, contented, glad they've found their tobacco. Buy a tidy red tin before you do another thing.

Model Red Seal Electrical Home to Open in Kingston

Arranged by Electric Service League of Kingston—Fully Equipped Modern Home Will Be Shown Early Next Month.

A completely equipped and furnished electrical home will be opened for public inspection on 24 Emerson street in Kingston from February 5 to February 20 under the auspices of the Electric Service League of Kingston with the cooperation of local merchants. The public is cordially invited to visit this home which will be open without charge from 2:30 to 5:30 and 7:00 to 9:30 daily during the two weeks' demonstration period.

This electrical home, which embodies the latest and best in electrical installations, has been wired according to the nationally organized Red Seal Plan to assure adequate wiring for the convenient use of electric service in the home. The Electric Service League of Kingston is indebted to J. E. Van Derveer who very generously offered the use of his new home for public demonstration during the two weeks' period. The purpose of the Electric Service League of Kingston in opening this Red Seal electrical home is to show the public how attractive, convenient and effortless the American home can be made by taking full advantage of the modern intricate-work of electricity. In its many home-keeping and labor-saving aids, as well as in its lighting possibilities. Almost all home-makers want the best there is in household equipment, which in these days means to a great extent electrical equipment. They want sufficient light with the cozy charm that artistic, well-shaded lights can give. They may not realize, however, that the foundation for this desirable type of home is the behind-the-scenes electric wiring which is too often put in without sufficient thought as to future requirements.

Realizing how difficult it is for the individual home owner to visualize all his future electrical requirements in going over plans with his architect or electrical contractor, the Hudson Valley Electrical League, of which the Electric Service League of Kingston is a part, has adopted the new national standard for convenient and adequate electric wiring, known as the "Red Seal" plan. This plan, which is introduced by a national organization, the Society for Electrical Development sets a minimum standard of specifications. The home owner can consult this set of minimum specifications before wiring his home. make any additions he desires, have an authorized Red Seal electrical contractor install the wiring, and upon completion of the job receive a certificate stating that his home meets Red Seal requirements. Then, when he comes to put his electric service to daily and nightly use he can be sure of complete satisfaction. The Red Seal is really a trademark which protects the owner, the builder, the contractor, and the reactor in one of the most important of present day considerations—electric service. Such a home is more valuable to the home owner through its added charm and convenience, and can readily command a higher market value than the average wired home.

Red Seal Home Committees.
The committees in charge of all arrangements are:
General committee—composed of all members of the Electric Service League as follows: Roswell Colles, chairman; A. Tudoroff, A. W. Stall, R. J. Harder, W. D. Hawk, J. A. McNelis, Carl Miller, M. M. Peck, C. A. Lasher, H. Kolts.
Advertising and Publicity Committee—W. D. Hawk, chairman; M. M. Peck, R. J. Harder.
Furnishing and Decoration Committee—R. J. Harder, chairman; C. Miller, Miss M. H. Bodkin.
Electric Appliance Committee—A. Tudoroff, chairman; C. Miller, J. McNelis, R. J. Harder.
Electric Wiring Committee—J. McNelis, chairman; C. Miller, A. Tudoroff.
Lecture and Demonstration Committee—A. W. Stall, chairman; H. Kolts, M. M. Peck.
Finance Committee—R. Colles, chairman; A. W. Stall, W. D. Hawk.

Flay Drys

Senator Cole L. Hulse, of South Carolina, in a speech in the Senate attacked the regulations which prevent foreign Ambassadors to have and display liquor without restraint, while Americans are thrown in jail for mere possession.

See a Public Utility.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The public utility, and the manufacturers and distributors would be benefited by the public service commission, under a bill introduced today in the Legislature by Assemblyman Cowley, Democrat, of New York.

Seeking Naval Recruits Here

A United States Naval recruiting office has been opened at the Central Post Office in charge of V. Drysdale, chief electrician, from the New York recruiting office of the navy. The office is seeking recruits for seamen and machinist mates, and also for the hospital corps. Applicants must be between 17 and 25 years of age. The duties will be general and consist of both sea and land duty with an enlistment term of four years.

Bills Amending The Penal Law

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Several bills amending the Penal law were introduced in the Legislature today by Senator Brown, Republican, Schenectady, which add drastic regulations in relation to commutations for life imprisonment, professional bondsmen and the determining of habitual criminals. The measures provide that a man convicted of crime five times "must" and not "may" be determined an habitual criminal; that the parole board shall have no jurisdiction over those serving a life sentence and that judges must investigate the characters of the professional bondsmen before accepting bail. Another measure is to the effect that no deducted time for good behavior shall be allowed for sentences of one year or more.

Wants Charges For Coke Probed

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—A resolution requesting the state coal commission to investigate allegations that retail dealers in coke were charging 70 cents per bushel for the commodity and thus realizing a profit from $8 to $14 a ton was introduced in the Legislature today by Senator Dunnigan, Democrat of the Bronx. Consumers in New York city and Westchester county are alleged to be among the most prolific patrons of these dealers. "It is charged," said the Dunnigan resolution, "that despite the cost of $14.39 or thereabouts to the dealer, for coke, the latter is retailing in bushels to the consumers in New York city and Westchester county at 20 cents or at the rate per ton of $22 to $25 thereby realizing a profit of from $8 to $14 a ton."

According to Dunnigan, dealers are paying about $12 a ton for coke, not including the freight charges. "I believe it is time the state coal commission investigated the charges made by dealers for coke," said Senator Dunnigan.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Jan. 20.—Easop Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in their council room on Broadway.

Mid-week prayer service will be held in the assembly room of the Methodist Church, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Regents examinations are being held at Port Ewen School No. 13 this week.

Frederick Spinnewer of Broadway has the agency of the Stewart radio.

Mrs. James C. Van Vliet is ill at her home on Salem street.

On Friday evening at 8 o'clock, the Port Ewen Methodist Session will engage the Trinity Methodist Society in an exhibition basketball game in the assembly room.

Miss Jane Munson of Kingston, spent Tuesday with Miss Pauline Munson on Broadway.

Mrs. J. L. Van Aken of Green street is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly at Springtown.

Mr. and Mrs. John Monroe and Eugene Secor of Kingston were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Secor on Green street.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Grims of Hensenville are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Junip on Broadway.

UNION LAKE CHAMPLAIN BRIDGE AT TICONDEROGA

Albany, Jan. 20.—Residents of Ticonderoga, at a meeting of the New York State-Vermont Lake Champlain bridge commission in the capitol today, urged that the proposed bridge over Lake Champlain be erected at Ticonderoga.

"Ticonderoga is the logical location for the bridge on account of the east and west traffic to the summer resorts of New England and the Adirondacks," J. T. Keough, secretary of the Ticonderoga Chamber of Commerce told the commission.

Keough said that on the New York side the roads converge at Ticonderoga, giving direct access to all parts of the Adirondacks, while on the Vermont side the roads through the Green Mountains are so located as to direct travel to the shore of the lake opposite Ticonderoga.

Ticonderoga residents also told the commission that the old fortress there is one of the objectives of tourists travel and that last year over 100,000 persons visited the historic spot.

GREAT PLAIN of the PO

Gran Guardia Vecchia in Verona.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

FEW trips in Italy are more delightful than one across the great plain of the Po, in the north, and among the frontier cities. Genoa does not belong to this plain. It is on the wrong side of the narrow Apennines. But it forms an irresistibly charming western gateway for the journey.

Genoa has rivals in loveliness—Naples close at home, Constantinople, Hongkong—but superbly indifferent she sits upon terrace above terrace, encircling her close port, looking far out over the blue Ligurian sea. Along her dusky streets rise rows of stately palaces—marble, soft rose, rich cream or yellow brown. Gardens there are, all green and fragrant, melodious, with bird song; great churches, cool and quiet; goldsmiths' shops gay with filigree; museums with wondrous pictures; high cornice roads and open spaces, whence one takes in marvelous stretches of earth and sky and sea.

From Genoa northward to Pavia is but a little way, but that way is over the Ligurian Alps, all green and gray with vineyards and olive groves, and noisy with swift little rushing rivers and mill-wheels clacking around—a lovely way, not to be hurried, but eventually bringing the traveler into the plain of Lombardy. And here there are many rich cities and much of art and of history, for in this great fertile plain between huge mountain chains armies have ever gathered looking up toward the Alps, to great victories over the pagans beyond them, or, themselves pagans, rejoicing in the luxuriance spread them as they faced joyously the Apennines and Rome.

Northward the snow peaks of the Alps form a natural barrier, it would seem, to the nation tenanted this peninsula; but soldiers have little sympathy with geographical boundaries save for strategic purposes, and diplomats none. The western chain of the Alps bends southward to the Mediterranean, ending in the great headland, between Nice and Monaco. Across this physical boundary line Italy's western limits have been thrust back and forth through centuries; reaching once far beyond Nice, at present not quite touching Mentone, which is 15 miles to east of it. In the central Alps the southern slopes belong to Italy, although, of course, the greater portion of the chain lies in Switzerland; and until the rectification following the World war, the eastern Alps, to south as well as north, were Austrian.

This Italia Rodentia, this beautiful, romantic Tyrol, acquired new interest as a pawn in the great war game.

Cities of the Plain.

But we have come far from Genoa without pausing to look by the way. Let us go back and take the slowest train, that we may stop as often as we will. Perhaps the first time should be at Pavia. Much of history has been made there; it should be interesting. For 200 years, until Charlemagne overthrew them, it was the capital of the Lombard kings, who ruled over this great fertile plain between the Alps and the Apennines, the plain watered by the Po and its tributaries, adorned by a chain of wonderful lakes that bring like sapphire pendents dripping from the glacier-clad Alps into the rich green meadows—the plain that has been the coveted possession of every European tribe and nation, the prize of battle, the field of war, since history began.

Cervino, a short five miles away, deserves more time than it usually receives sandwiched in between a morning at Pavia and an afternoon at Milan, or the casual objective of a pleasant motor tour. To really see it would be to scrutinize it for four, almost inch by inch, especially its great church, which is a jewel without and within.

Milan is today a half-way house for people rushing up and down the earth, from the Mediterranean to the Alps, from Venice to Como; it is so very well known, so very crowded, so busy, so bustling, one feels there is nothing more to be told of her. Perhaps because she seems so entirely modern, because she bears so few traces of her earlier years, because while her sister cities point so proudly to Etruscan, to Greek, to early Roman remains, she invites the visitor to contemplate her Galleria Vittorio Emanuele, one feels she does not appreciate her past.

Beautiful Lake Como.

Milan cannot hold anyone long who remembers that Lake Como is but two short hours away, with open-air pictures far lovelier than any that Milan's rich museums hold. The little town of the name at the southern end of the lake is quaint enough; it has a charming cathedral; it looks straight up to the snowpeaks, but it is not a place to linger; choose rather some quieter place farther up the lake—Cadenabbia, Menaggio, Bellagio.

When people speak of the Italian lakes it is usually Como and its neighbors that are meant; Como, which is all Italian; Lugano, which is largely Swiss; and Maggiore, which is largely Italian; but there are others, very tiny perhaps, but also lovely; Orta, Varese, and to the east, Isola, above all, beautiful Lake Garda, whose upper end was Austrian. Which is the loveliest? Who knows? Undoubtedly Lake Como is the most popular. And does any visitor fail to row across its blue, satiny surfaces to the marble steps of the Villa Carlotta to see the Thorwaldsen Frieze and Canova's "Cupid and Psyche"?

Lugano is quite a different lake from Como, although so near—but a single rocky ridge, an outlying spur of the great Alpine chain between. It is wonderfully picturesque, with its steep, wooded sides and quaint towns, pink and yellow and mauve, staged upward from the lake-like galleries at a theater. If there are fewer luxurious villas, fewer over-rich gardens, there is more of romantic naturalness. Lake Maggiore is almost as well known, as much traveled, as Como. Its individuality is just as strong as that of the other two; to see one is by no means to see all.

Verona's Palaces and Art.

To the della Scalas Verona owes most of her great palaces, much of her art, half of her fame. The tiny ladder of their crest (scala means a ladder), the swallow-tail decorations of their architecture, are found today in cities far distant from Verona—in Brescia, Parma, Lucca, far up Lake Garda and in Tyrol—for under the greatest of them, Can Grande I, the state was the largest that medieval north Italy ever saw, save for a very brief time in Gian Galeazzo Visconti's governorship from Milan.

It was in the days of the Scaligeri—that is, the rulers of the della Scala family—that Romeo and Juliet lived and loved and died. Stern history pours much cold water upon this romance, but it will not drown, and hundreds of visitors to Verona who find no time for the Arena yet make a pilgrimage to Juliet's tomb.

In the Via Santa Maria Antica and adjoining the church of that name is the private graveyard of the Scaligeri. The space is tiny and the monuments large; they tower above one's head until the wind whistles between the statues cut the sky like swallows. There is something very cheerful and sociable in the way these Verona tombs are set about in busy places, one feels that the sleepers could not be lonely there.

Little Interest in Luther Cabinet

Berlin, Jan. 20.—The formation of a new German cabinet under the leadership of Dr. Haps Luther after a parliamentary crisis lasting six weeks provoked little enthusiasm in political circles today.

The new cabinet aroused little interest, both right and left wingers announcing that they would preserve an attitude of watchful waiting. The extremists, by which are meant the Hitlerites at one end, and the Communists at the other, were outspoken in uttering their most violent opposition to all parliamentary methods.

Commanding only 180 out of 600 votes in the Reichstag, Chancellor Luther's government will be compelled to lean either to the Right or Left if it expects to accomplish anything. This means that Luther will have to cast his lot either with the German National People's party or with the Socialist Democrats. It is not yet clear, however, which way the government will go, both of the parties mentioned being at wide variance with the political tendencies of the new cabinet.

Newspaper comment reflected the general reactions of party leaders. Der Tag said Luther's ship of state was heeling heavily to port and declared it did not see how the ship could weather the parliamentary storms certain to overtake it.

Rote Fahne remarked that the party leaders surrendered at the eleventh hour to President Von Hindenburg's threats to assume the dictatorship while Deutsche Zeitung expressed regret that the president failed to establish himself in the role of dictator.

Despatches From Foreign Parts

Tokio, Jan. 20.—The Japanese government plans to float loans amounting to 300,000,000 yen, or about $150,000,000 during 1927 and 1928. The money will be used to complete reconstruction work undertaken after the disastrous earthquake of 1923 to improve and extend the government railway system and to aid various colonization schemes.

Constantinople, Jan. 20.—The Turkish government will give the United States until February 20 to open negotiations for a commercial treaty, it was announced today. Until that date the increase in customs duties upon goods from America will be suspended.

Huelva, Spain, Jan. 20.—Arriving here today with an escort of fifteen airplanes, Commandant Franco and his flying mate Captain Ruiz De Alda, who are about to embark on a tri-continental flight involving stops at Buenos Aires, New York, London and Paris, were given a wildly enthusiastic reception.

Hong Kong, Jan. 20.—All precautions were being taken by the police to prevent disorders threatened by the strike today of 46,000 cotton workers.

Dublin, Jan. 20.—Announcement is made that in April a census of all Ireland—the first since 1911—will be taken. Though the count of heads will be carried out simultaneously in the Free State and in the six counties of northern Ireland—it will be directed by the respective governments.

It is another hopeful sign of the better relations between the long divided sections of Ireland that they can engage in the peaceful pursuit of counting heads instead of breaking them.

BOY ON A SLED RAN INTO KABLERT'S AUTOMOBILE

George Kablert of Eddyville reported to the police Monday that a boy named Leo Hines, 15 years old, of Port Ewen, while coasting on a sled had run into his automobile on Abel street at Wurts street. The boy escaped with a skinned knee.

Worth a Long Hunt

A tiny tube containing $300,000 worth of radium disappeared from a St. Paul hospital. It had probably been washed into the sewer. A radium detector was constructed which was attached to electroscopes and then began a long hunt along all sewers leading from the hospital. After weeks of patient searching the detector one day indicated radium inside a nine-inch sewer. Workmen dug down and there was the radium tube.—Copper's Weekly.

Students to Pay More

Students of Antioch college, Yellow Springs, Ohio, in a recent financial crisis of the college, voluntarily decided to increase their own tuition $20 a year. The vote was by secret ballot, and passed by a nine-tenths majority. Antioch students in general earn about two-thirds of their college expenses.

First to Name Stars

John Bayer's "Circumpolaris," first published in 1903, was the first book to use the modern system of naming stars, "Alpha Orionis," the last part being the Latin name of the constellation and the former the Greek letter indicating the relative brightness of the star in the constellation.

Whispered Speech and Received Big Ovation

A prominent suburbanite, who is well known as a speaker in fraternal organizations, recently had occasion to go to a northern city to make an address at a dedication.

When he arrived in the city he was so hoarse that he could scarcely be heard. The committee of reception was dismayed. "Why not take some Turkish baths today?" was suggested. "All right," he responded in a whisper. "I'll try it." So he went through a steaming process, and sure enough, in the evening his voice had come back to him to an extent.

When he arose at the meeting he apologized by saying that he had practically lost his voice, but, that after years, he would put into practice a precept of an old elocution professor, to whisper so that everyone who would be attentive could understand each word. So he whispered his speech. He was given an ovation—the greatest he had ever had. Later, in speaking of it, he said: "That was one of the principles laid down by Professor Neff years ago."

"He asserted that articulation was necessary in public speaking and that the voice could be pitched in any key or could be loud or soft. I remember as though it were yesterday when I stood on a platform in a large hall and whispered to him as he sat at the other end of the hall. He heard me perfectly. It was all due to articulation."—Philadelphia Record.

Chronic Worry Never Solved Real Problem

We all know the chronic worrier! The woman who always sees calamity ahead. Each new event that comes or threatens to come, is for her a new matter of apprehension.

To be sure, most of the things she worries about never happen, and the real problems of her life are not the things she foresees in time to fear.

But the fact remains that she squanders her vitality and her nervous system, maybe ruins her good digestion, and brings wrinkles into her face, worrying.

And she accomplishes nothing with all this tremendous waste of emotion. Things happen just as they would have if she could have remained calm and tranquil about things.—Montreal Family Herald.

Islands Part of America

The Virgin Islands in the Caribbean sea were purchased from Denmark for $25,000,000. The purchase was made during the World war to shut Germany out of a possible submarine base. But negotiations for the islands had gone on intermittently for a half century. Secretary Seward first opened the question with Denmark at the close of the Civil war. Denmark agreed, the purchase was arranged and the king bade farewell to his subjects, then Sumner in the senate killed the ratification of the treaty. On another occasion negotiations proceeded to a final stage, only to be rejected by the Danish parliament. The price paid amounted to about $900 an acre for land worth for peace time purposes possibly $20 an acre.—Kansas City Star.

Nursery for Children

Some young mothers are so exercised over the thought of germs that they won't let their babies or children play on the floor. They let them tumble or sit up to a table to play. Now really, this seems a shame when children of all ages enjoy "scotching around" so much. No cutting table or dining table can compare with a floor for a place on which to build blocks or set up railroad tracks. Why don't these people have a nursery with a floor kept clean enough and dustless enough to be played upon? Have this room kept for the children to play in and see that they wear little house slippers or sandals when playing there and that no grown-up enters who wears shoes that have trod the streets.

KNOW LITTLE ABOUT OLD NEPTUNE'S BED

Scientists Have Arranged to Make Discoveries.

The discovery of a plateau only 150 feet below the surface of the water of the Atlantic ocean was recently announced.

This is only one of many discoveries, made in the last few years, which show that our knowledge of the ocean bed is remarkably poor. In many books published a quarter of a century ago it was emphatically stated that the ocean floor is flat, sloping gently here and there, but never broken into ranges like the dry land.

Then, in 1901, the cable ship Britannia discovered a mountain range in the South Pacific which was in every way like a range on the dry land. More recently a range of mountains, known as the Hawaiian VII range, was discovered in the North Atlantic. Its highest peaks only a hundred fathoms below the surface. In the Atlantic, too, is Mount Laura Ethel, whose summit towers near the surface.

Several small islands are only the peaks of a mountain range which have broken the surface. The Bermudas rise straight up from a depth of two and a half miles, while St. Helena and Ascension island are also mountain peaks. Off the Kuril Islands the bottom drops sheer to a depth of five miles, while only a mile or two from the coast of Porto Rico the depth is 27,366 feet.

It is curious that although the bottom of the sea has not changed for a million years, man still knows little about it. Many expeditions are now setting out with the object of salvaging some of the $1,500,000,000 worth of gold which is hidden in the depths, and these expeditions will, no doubt, make many discoveries concerning undersea scenery.

Diving apparatus invented during the last few months enables man to descend to depths undreamt of ten years ago; but the terrific pressure at great depths is still a great obstacle. Quite as important is the invention of a mercury vapor lamp, which enables films to be taken at great depths. Experiments on a lamp that will illuminate a large area at a great depth are also being made. By means of this the diver will be able to see the hillside covered with olive-green seaweed, which a passing eddy turns into a wind-swept pine forest, mountains towering to the surface, volcanoes, plains, and many other features which are associated with the grandest land scenery.

Make Money From Pest

The extent to which rabbits and hares are a pest to the farmers and stock raisers of New South Wales, Australia, is shown to some extent by the numbers slaughtered each year, notwithstanding which these little animals do immeasurable damage.

The flesh of these animals forms a common article of diet both in the cities and towns and in the country, especially in the winter, when large numbers of men are engaged in their capture and treatment. The year 1919-20 was the record year for the export trade, the total value of exports being $15,660,000. During that year 6,990,696 pairs of rabbits and hares valued at $2,000,000 and 9,227,240 pounds of skins valued at $13,140,000 were exported. It is estimated that the skins and carcasses exported during that year, added to the numbers killed for local consumption, totaled at least 100,000,000.

A Woman's Way

An unusual weapon with which to fight a burglar was used by Mrs. Clara Remick, of Lodi, when she was awakened by a noise early one morning. Mrs. Remick, fully satisfied that there was someone in the house, jumped from her bed and, grabbing a feather pillow, dashed into her kitchen and chased a burglar from the room. She made a swing with the pillow and struck the feeling burglar over the head as he darted out of the door and down the back stairs. Then, woman like, she removed the pillow case and put it in the weekly wash before returning to her bed. She was so nervous over her encounter that she forgot to telephone for an officer.—Sacramento Bee.

Pigs That Speak French

Some time ago a French girl visited some farmers in Illinois. She heard two boys quarrelling.

When asked the cause of the misunderstanding the older boy said: "Well, you see, mademoiselle, that's about old man Tyson's pigs. I was telling Bud those pigs are French, and he said they are not."

The foreman, rather puzzled, inquired, "What makes you think Mr. Tyson's pigs are French?"

"Well," answered the boy, "because from morning till evening those pigs grunt out—"

Conservation Bill Introduced

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Assemblyman Hackenbush, Democrat of New York today introduced a bill in the Legislature which would create an advisory commission of 27 members to be appointed by the governor, to prescribe rules and regulations pertaining to conservation. This marks the third time Hackenbush has sponsored such a measure. In other years it was rejected by the Republicans, although favored by Governor Smith.

"It is foolish to spend so much time each year debating amendments to the fish and game laws when there are so many grave problems which the people expect the Legislature to solve," Hackenbush said.

Since 1916, 853 amendments to the conservation law have been introduced in the Legislature of which 162 became law. The advisory commission, proposed by Hackenbush, would serve without pay.

RODIE COAL COMPANY MAY ALSO DEAL IN FEEDS

A certificate of incorporation has been granted by Florence E. S. Knapp, secretary of state, to the Rodie Coal Company, Inc., with principal office at Kingston. The purposes of the corporation are to conduct the business of selling and dealing in coal of all kinds, also in flour, feed and other like food provisions. The capital stock to be issued is 22,200 shares of which 2,000 shares are first preferred stock of the par value of $100 each, 200 shares of second preferred stock of the par value of $100 each, and 20,000 shares of common stock without nominal or par value. The directors are Robert S. Rodie, 122 St. James street; Robert R. Rodie, 83 Albany avenue; Frank R.

Steed, 43 Green street; Eugene P. McConnell, 192 Pine street; Samuel M. Watts, 106 Highland avenue; they also being the shareholders of the second preferred stock, and signing the certificate.

PHOENICIA.

Phoenixia, Jan. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. William Clancy and their daughter, Mrs. Thomas J. McGrath were deeply shocked and grieved when they received word on Monday of the sudden death of William Clancy, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clancy, who was a conductor on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad. Mr. and Mrs. Clancy and Mrs. McGrath left Tuesday morning for New Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. William McGrath left Wednesday for a trip to New York and to take in the automobile show. Jerome S. Newman, local insurance agent, attended the Reserve Officers' Association meeting at Kingston on the evening of January 12.

Mrs. H. Adickes and Mrs. Nollner entertained the M. E. Aid at Mrs. Adickes' home Thursday afternoon. There was a large attendance, the Shandaken and Chichester members being present. The chairladies of the different committees were appointed. Mrs. C. Herdman was appointed chairlady of the table committee in place of Mrs. Townsend of Chichester who was unable to take it again this year at the fair. A vote of thanks was extended to the hostesses for the delicious refreshments served.

The powder house hill was made ready and many enjoyed riding down hill for a couple of evenings. The tubogran was used but no mishaps occurred as last year.

Jeemen are thinking it is time to get busy as February is getting near. Charles McGrath who has been ill of pleurisy was taken to a specialist in Kingston this week to see about a pus sack that is still near the heart. An X ray will be taken.

The Rebekah Lodge have three new candidates. Eileen Mooney has commenced taking music lessons of Mrs. A. P. Loomis.

The Aid members met at the M. E. lecture room Monday evening and made the balsam pillows which will be sold. A pleasant time was had and a vote of thanks was given Mrs. E. Sickler and Mrs. Burger for serving sandwiches and coffee which came as a surprise. Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. Van Kenon, Mrs. Blakesly and Miss Whitney of Shandaken came down and helped in the work.

The sum of $23 was realized from the food sale held Saturday afternoon at the Whispel Hotel. The M. E. Aid members gave the sale.

Mrs. A. P. Loomis is substituting in class work in the M. E. Sunday school during the winter stay of Mrs. Louise Bruthaupt at Miami, Florida. H. Crosby, the efficient M. E. Church treasurer, being at Chichester, felt he could not accept the office another year. H. Bruthaupt was elected treasurer in his place.

R. U. Longyear is at the Chicago Moody Institute for saxophone instruction, etc.

Mr. Frederick left Saturday morning for New York city where he has joined the Saxophone Six.

Eldert Kilmer nicely entertained a company of friends Wednesday evening. The radio and games were enjoyed. Nice refreshments were served.

Dr. Bolduc has been ill. Dr. Gross attended him.

The Baptist Aid met at the home of Mrs. Bollier of Chichester. Mrs. Bollier was re-elected president.

Clayton Hilson is assisting in the post office as C. Simpson and E. Keene started on a trip south. It's reported that Clarence Voss spoke for an alligator as a souvenir. They expect to fill this part of the bill of fare.

Slow Diplomatic Move

Although England recognized the independence of the United States by the treaty of Paris, September 3, 1783, it was not until 1791 that she was officially represented by an envoy to the new nation.

Pavlak Is Held For Grand Jury

Man Who Drove Car Which Collided
With Pole, Killing Joseph M. Sebel of Glasco and Injuring Hilda Wolven of Kingston, Waived Examination.

Louis Pavlak was arraigned before Justice James E. Kennedy of the town of Ulster Tuesday afternoon on a charge of manslaughter preferred against him by Coroner
W. Norman Conner. Pavlak waived examination and was held to await the action of the next grand jury.
Unable to furnish bail, he was remanded to the county jail.

Pavlak drove the Chevrolet car which ran off the road into a telegraph pole on the Saugerties road near Katrine early Sunday morning.
Joseph M. Sebel of Glasco, one of the men in the car was killed and Hilda Wolven, 15 years old, of North Front street, was injured and removed to the Kingston City Hospital.

There were ten people in the car at the time it left the road and crashed into the pole. The party were returning to Kingston from a dance at the Green Shingle Inn.

HEAR CHARGES AGAINST FEDERAL JUDGE ANDERSON

Washington, Jan. 20.—Public hearings on charges brought against Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson of the western district of Tennessee, were opened today before the senate judiciary sub-committee.

Developments included the presentation of a "bill of particulars" charging Anderson with "falsifying records" of his court, where he has served under a recess appointment since September, 1925. The specifications also alleged Anderson was "morally unfit" to serve as a federal judge.

One of the complaints alleged Anderson was habitually drunk.

Romeo and Juliet

I can't bear to think Americans as a race are unromantic, but the evidence all around me is fairly strong.
For instance, ask the average modern flapper if she thinks Romeo and Juliet are Shakespeare's saddest lovers, and she may say, "Saddest? You mean supper! Gee! It's hard enough nowadays to find someone you can live with, let alone dying with them!"
From "If I Know What I Mean," by Elsie Janis.

Congenial Tree

One time as Toofus is going along the trail a leaf drops right into his hand. Toofus is pleased, stops and talks with tree.

Along comes Willow Plume and says,
"Toofus, I told you that you must not talk to trees. People will think you are nutty."

"I did not intend to talk," Toofus said, "but this tree hands me his visiting card."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 20.—Taking advantage of the uncertainty created by the Federal Reserve Board's new policy of publicity in the details of brokers' loan in the call loan market and the continued inactivity of a number of powerful bullish traders and pools, the bears renewed their attacks on the market today and upset values in every section of the market. A score or more of the business known speculative leaders including J. S. Steel, Baldwin, Cast Iron Pipe, Pan American Oils and Pullman, dropped to the lowest prices of the year.

New forward movements were started late in the session after the attack of the bears had subsided.
National Biscuit reported a new high for the year at 80 1/4; Stewart Warner regained all of its early losses and similar progress was made by the bulk of motor and industrial stocks. United States Rubber advanced to a new high for the year at 85 1/4.

Quotations given by C. H. Halsey
& Co., 27 William street, New York city, branch office, Warren Building,

Major League on Pacific Coast

John A. Heydler Says It Is California's Problem to Build Up Circuit to Major League Proportions.

(By Davis J. Walsh)

New York, Jan. 20. There will be no major league on the Pacific coast only when that territory steps out and gets itself a few more cities of major league calibre, according to John A. Heydler, president of the National League. He added that, if and when this happened, the transition from minor to major ranking would follow automatically.

He made these statements today in discussing the recent scene-shifting of coast league franchises as a possible step toward the realization of California's dream of big time rating. Mr. Heydler would not say that this dream was impossible of accomplishment. It was a matter of attendance figures plus the calibre of ball played, he declared.

"It is California's problem to build up its circuit to major league proportions," Mr. Heydler said. "Right now, the coast has only two cities of the proper calibre, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Nearly all of its fan population is centered in these two points and, obviously, no league could assume major proportions under this condition."

"Of course, what may happen in the immediate future, no man can say. Who, for example, could have foreseen the development of Detroit? Ten years ago, it was a poor baseball town, judged by major league standards. Now it is one of the greatest in the country."

Mr. Heydler seemed to feel that the development of the coast league might be retarded by its very self sufficiency. It is a non-draft organization and, while the condition permits it to retain its status until such time as it cares to sell them, it also prevents the league from levying a player-draft on smaller organizations.

However, he spoke with mild approval of the franchise transfers that will result in continuous ball for San Francisco and Los Angeles and the mustering of five clubs within the radius of these cities. The transfer of the Salt Lake club to operate in Los Angeles with the team already there served to make the league more compact and eliminated the transmountain jump to the Utah town.

Another franchise shift brought the Vernon club to San Francisco to ensure patronage with the Seals. This means that five of the eight clubs will draw their public from two centers of population, the Oakland outfit operating just across the bay. These moves should make the turnstile turn more rapidly and with greater frequency next season.

Daily Accidents Worse Than War

Total Casualties From Accidents Twenty Times Greater Than Those Occasioned to American Soldiers During World Conflict—How Accidents Can Be Avoided.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 20.—The average daily number of persons killed and injured by accidents in the United States is twenty times the average daily casualties to American troops during the world war, so Charles E. Hill, general safety agent of the New York Central Lines, said in addressing the Twelfth Annual Road School which is in session at Purdue University this week under the joint auspices of the Indiana State Highway Commission, the Indiana County Highway Superintendents' Association, the Indiana County Surveyors' and County Engineers' Association and the City Street Commissioners' Association of the State of Indiana. In substance Mr. Hill spoke as follows:

"During 1924 as a result of accidents of all kinds, of which those on the railroads were only a part, there was a daily total of 250 deaths and 6,000 injuries. The total number of casualties was twenty times greater than those occasioned to our soldiers in the World War."

"During 1924 there were 2,119 deaths and 6,525 injuries in crossing accidents, an average of 24 casualties per day as compared with 9 per day, twelve years previous, the increase being 167 per cent. Occasionally these accidents cause derailments of passenger trains. In one recent year there were 27 such derailments causing death and injury to 138 railroad employees and passengers on trains."

Grade Crossings Increase. "There were 242,307 highway crossings at grade in the United States at the close of 1924. To eliminate these would cost about twenty billion dollars, making a solution by this means impracticable. During recent years for every crossing eliminated by the railroads there have been from three to four new crossings constructed."

"There are in round numbers 20,000,000 automobiles in use and they are involved in 30 per cent of the crossing accidents. The number of automobiles will continue to increase. "A large majority of all accidents occur in daylight, at crossings where there is no obstruction to view and in the vicinity where the victims reside. 21 per cent of these accidents are due to the drivers running into the side of trains."

Incompetence and Carelessness. "A large percentage of drivers are incompetent, due to mental and physical defects. This is glaringly illustrated in contrasting the comparative qualifications of an automobile driver and locomotive engineer. The latter is trained; the former needs no qualifications."

"Only 5 per cent of the motorists are careless, but this represents a total of one-million reckless drivers having no regard for their personal safety or the safety of their fellow-men."

"Motor vehicle accidents in the streets and highways during the past twelve years have increased 700 per cent, while casualties to passengers on trains during the same period have decreased 59 per cent, thus showing conclusively not only the lack of training upon the part of the motorists as regards safety, but also the value of organized safety upon the part of the American railroads. Travel by steam railroads in the United States today is 166 times safer than travel by automobile."

Real Remedy is Cooperation.

"The remedy lies largely in a constructive campaign of education. We must curb the reckless motorist but also that he may not only be safe, but also that we may save the large majority of motorists who are careful. Cooperation upon the part of the railroads and the public is the real remedy. This exists to a certain extent but it needs developing. If our contact with automobile drivers was as close as it is with our employees, and the response towards cooperation was proportionate we

Ten Injured in Train Crash

St. Augustine, Fla., Jan. 20.—Ten persons were injured today when limited train No. 71 crashed into the rear of train No. 37 on the Florida East Coast Line near Bayard, Fla., according to a statement given out at the road's offices here.

Only the fact that two express cars were on the rear of train No. 37 prevented a serious accident, it was said. The two express cars were almost demolished. All of the injured passengers were able to continue their journeys, according to railroad officials.

Nutt Natural History

By HUGH HUTTON.

THE FRENCH DOODLEPOG.

The doodlepog is about the most persistent of the canine family. The writer had a pair of them along on an elephant hunt in the south of France, and although it took them seven months to bury the bones of the elephant we caught, they kept right at it. They are also used in hunting hors d'oeuvres, and can catch up with a hors d'oeuvre no matter how fast it gallops. It is quite a custom in that country to hang up the hors d'oeuvre bones over the kennel doors for good luck.

A spiked collar of popcorn kernels is the chief ornament of this critter, which otherwise possesses a flabby head and a peanut body. Ears and feet are split navy beans, and the toothpick legs and clove tail about finish him up. (Metropolitan Newspaper Service.) Tomorrow—The Sniveling Snooper-duck.)

Problem in Proportion

If one were to enlarge a tennis ball and an atom at the same rate, says the New York Herald Tribune, the one would be as big as the earth before the other attained the size of an ordinary baseball.

Unquestionable Fact

One cannot help but admire the reasoning of that London pupil who, on the entrance examinations, answered that "an unclean spirit is a dirty devil."—Buffalo Evening Times.

would reduce crossing accidents 50 per cent within a year and eventually would bring them down to a very small number.

Five Suggestions.

"The public can cooperate by aiding the railroads in carrying out the following suggestions:

"1. Prevent the building of unnecessary highways across railroad tracks."

"2. Eliminate crossings through the re-routing of highways where possible."

"3. Eliminate obstructions to view on the highways within 500 feet of the crossing."

"4. Require every motor driver and insurance carrier of every automobile involved in an accident, causing personal injuries to report full details to designated state officials."

"5. Enact stringent laws requiring a proper standard of qualifications making it unlawful for licenses to drive motor cars to be issued to those who are unable to meet required mental and physical tests."

Advanced Ideas in This German Prison

At Ichtershausen near Arnstadt, in Thuringia, the prison is so pleasant that no one has ever attempted to escape from it. The prison authorities have made the prison life tolerable, humane and educational. In the first place there are only 400 prisoners, although there are cells for 520. Within the prison is a local court in which all misdemeanors are judged by four employees, assisted by two representatives of the convicts. Many of the sentences imposed by the judge are lighter than those suggested by the convicts. Every prisoner is permitted to supplement the prison fare by purchased from the outside. The prisoners work for low wages but are allowed to keep the money—on an average 15 marks a month, although clever workers make as much as 40 marks. The living conditions are as pleasant as possible and the prisoners are allowed regular gymnastics and occasional turner competitions.

Giving the Game Away

The village postman, being an inveterate gossip, could never resist reading the postcards entrusted to him to deliver, and then communicating his knowledge to others.

The local doctor was well aware of a friend who lived in the same district, he added:

"I would tell you more, only I know the postman will read it."

He then posted the card. It was duly collected, taken to the post office and sent out for delivery.

The postman stamped up to the house with the card and knocked at the door, and to the surprise of the old lady who answered it, exclaimed angrily:

"Just tell the doctor he's telling 'em! I don't read 'em!"—London Answers.

War Finally Gets Them

Medical authorities in London are examining numerous cases of nervous strain which they believe are the result of wartime experiences. Officers who went through the war without a scratch and who still have the appearance of physical fitness, are just beginning to feel the effects of nervous and mental strain. In some cases complete collapse has suddenly struck down men who believed that all possible effects of their service had disappeared long ago. Physicians declare that many men's brains and nerves have suffered, even while no outward sign was observable.

"Penny" Nail

It should really be "pound" not "penny" when you ask for a six-penny or an eight-penny nail. Years ago it used to be that a thousand nails of a certain size weighed six pounds, of another a bit larger the same number weighed eight pounds—hence eight-pound nails, six-pound nails, which, hurriedly spoken, soon became contracted to six-penny, eight-penny.

A Pool and his Honey are soon parted.

Those girls that are so practiced in rolling roses should make good firemen.

"What did you have for lunch downtown today, dear?" asked the wife.

"I don't know what I had," replied the husband, "but I ordered chicken croquettes."

Lizard and crocodile skins are to be used for women's shoes this season. Lobsters, however, will probably provide the fair sex with as many pairs as usual.

Great aches from little corns grow.

If everybody could see as well as a jealous woman occultists would have to work for a living.

You aren't really a success until you begin to get letters from cranks.

Whoever nicknamed the ladies "the fair sex" was a poor judge of equity.

There are two sides to every question, both of which are often entirely wrong.

Says a newspaper story: "All during the testimony he hardly moved in his chair. Most of the time he rested his head on his chin." Try maintaining this position for some little time and see how difficult it is.

Wives are so much smarter than husbands most of them keep the husbands from ever finding it out.

Ring Off.

She rung me on the telephone.

She wrung her hands—I was not home.

She wrung from me my hard-earned jack.

I rung her finger—but she gave it back.

Half the women seem to be trying to get husbands and the other half seem to be trying to get rid of them.

Sharper: "Say, stranger, would you like to buy the Brooklyn Bridge—at only $1,000?" Slighter: "Nope. I ain't got any money. I just bought the Statue of Liberty for $500."

Wish the doctor would tell us we couldn't eat anything except fried chicken.

Eating of the tree of knowledge constrained Eve to put on clothes, but it is different with her daughter.

PRESBYTERIAN JUNIORS

The K. H. S. Begin Freshmen easily defeated the Presbyterian Juniors on the latter's court Monday night by a 23 to 15 tally. Although playing on an unusually difficult court to learn the Fresh-out outfit easily outplayed their opponents. At half time the Freshmen were leading by a 21 to 5 tally. Liebert and Fisher were the leading point gatherers for the winners with 11 and 10 markers. Andrews scored most for the losers with five points.
